ABDOMINAL abnormality, congenital, causing acute obstruction - 645
— operations, statistics of lung complications in - - - - - 599
— ptosis - - - - - - - 507
— retractor, semi-automatic - - 730
— surgery, hedonal anæsthesia in - 100
— and thoracic injuries combined, treatment of - - - - - 243
ABERNETHY, JOHN, biographical notes of - - - - - - - - 549
Abnormality, congenital abdominal, causing acute obstruction - 645
Abscess, axillary, mistaken for sarcoma 532
— of lung - - - - - - - 244
— simulated by sarcoma - - - 533
Acholuric jaundice in splenomegaly - 166
Acid intoxication mistaken for intussusception - - - - - 138
Air-passages, foreign bodies in - - 243
Albee's bone-grafting for Pott's disease 512
Alnus glutinosa, effect of on cancerous growths - - - - - - 577
Amastia, a case of - - - - - 336
American surgery during the last twelve months - - - - - - 502
Amidoazotoluol, causes thickening of Thiersch grafts - - - 513
Amputations, major, mortality in - 502
Anæsthesia and anoci-association - 503
— a criticism of some recent methods - 96
— dangers of, the surgical problem of the future - - - - - 503
— fatal rupture of empyema into bronchus during - - - 323
— hedonal, in abdominal surgery - 100
— — high mortality in - - - 101
— — in intracranial surgery - - 101
— injection of morphine, etc., before, cause of diminution of post-operative bronchial complications - - - - - - 591
— intratracheal - - - - - 90
— — absence of vomiting in - 94, 104
— — advantages of - - - 90, 103
— — emphysema from - - - 503
— — and empyema - - - - - 95
— — ether - - - - - 503
— — Kelly's apparatus for - - 91
— — safety of - - - - - - 95
— — technique of - - - 94, 105
— — in thyroid operations - - 94
— intravenous ether - - - - - 96
— — — advantages and disadvantages of - - - - - 97

PAGE

Anæsthesia, intravenous hedonal - 99
— in marginal resection of tongue - 45
— nitrous oxide-oxygen, in major surgery - - - - - - - 108
— in operations for exophthalmic goitre - - - - - - 708
— in thorax operations - - - 239
Analogy of an individual bone with an organ such as the liver, etc. - 624
Anastomosis, absence of, in arterial supply to kidney - - - 17
— arteriovenous femoral, for gangrene 511
— intestinal, in infants - - - 357
— recto-sigmoidal, "critical point" - 681
Anatomy of cleft palate at birth - - 265
— and physiology of speech - - 277
Aneurysm of aorta, partial occlusion by bands for - - - - - 511
— leaking, of subclavian artery - 725
— of thoracic aorta, plication for - 511
— traumatic - - - - - - 724
— treated by Matas' method - - 511
Anoci-association - - - - 503
— in thorax operations - - - 239
Anomalies of spleen - - - 168, 169
Anus, mixed carcinoma and epithelioma of - - - - - - - 332
— protrusion of vermiform appendix through, in intussusception of latter - - - - - - 721
Aorta, aneurysm of, partial occlusion by bands for - - - - - 511
— thoracic, plication of, for aneurysm - 511
Aphasia, traumatic sensory - - 581
— — — previously recorded cases - 585
— — — successfully treated by trephining - - - - - 583
Apical tuberculosis, division of first costal cartilage in - - - 57
— — influence of the first costal cartilage on - - - - - 55
— — its relation to the manubriosternal joint - - - - 65
— — Schmorl's groove - - - 67
Appendices, abnormal, unassociated with gastric symptoms - - 392
Appendicitis, acute, hæmorrhage from ruptured artery in operation for 141
— — mistaken for strangulated hernia 719
— — — traumatic contusion - - 720
— its relation to "dyspepsia," etc. - 390
— simulated by contracture of psoas parvus muscle - - - - 509
Appendicular disease, association with gastric and duodenal ulcers - 397

PAGE

Appendicular dyspepsia - - - 390
— — and pyloric spasm and intestinal stasis - - - - - - 397
— — types of appendix in - - - 396
Appendix, inflammatory tumour of, removed as malignant - - 324
" Appendix tumour," recurrent intussusception - - - - - 722
— types of, in appendicular dyspepsia 396
— vermiformis, intussusception of - 673
— — — with protrusion through anus 721
Architecture of cleft palate in relation to operation - - - - - 269
Arterial supply of the rectum and pelvic colon - - - - - 677
Arteriovenous femoral anastomosis for gangrene - - - - - - 511
Artery, ligation of superior hæmorrhoidal in excision of rectum 681, 685
Arthrodesis of knee-joint - - - 89
Arthroplasty - - - - - - 504
Artificial pneumothorax in phthisis - 506
Ascites, lymphangioplasty in chronic - 507
Aseptic wound-fever and post-operative hyperthyroidism - - - 513
Atresia, congenital, of duodenum- - 508
— — of œsophagus - - - - 507
Atrophy or hypertrophy of osteo-arthritic joints, cause of - - 389
Auto-inoculation due to artificial pneumothorax - - - - - - 231
Autoplastic graft of fibula into humerus after resection for chondro-sarcoma - - - - - 49, 383
Avulsion of tibial spine - - - 73
Axillary abscess mistaken for sarcoma 532

BALLS, porcelain, attached to mops to prevent loss - - - 687
Bands partially occluding aorta, use of, for aneurysm - - - 511
BARLING, GILBERT: Severe unilateral hæmaturia without evident cause - - - - - - 573
BARRINGTON-WARD, L. E.: Congenital enlargement of the colon and rectum - - - - - - 345
Berck-Plage, surgical work at - - 518
BERRY, JAMES: Review of present position of surgical treatment of exophthalmic goitre - - 699
Bile-ducts wounded during cholecystectomy - - - - - - 325
Biliary passages and gall-bladder, an improved route to the - - 200
Biographical Notes:—
John Abernethy - - - - 549
Sir Astley Paston Cooper, Bart. - 341
John Hunter - - - - - 153
Lord Lister - - - - - 3
Bladder, saccule of, diagnosed as volvulus - - - - - - 323
BLAND-SUTTON, SIR JOHN: Observations on surgery of the spleen - 157

PAGE

Bleeding from kidney, insufficient indication for nephrectomy - - 223
Blood, CO_2 content of, in surgical shock 126
— infections, cause of enlarged spleen 161
— supply of the rectum and pelvic colon - - - - - - 677
Blood-pressure, a guide to operation - 502

BOND, C. J.: The late results of transplantation of the fibula, with remarks on the growth and development of transplanted bone - - - - - - 610
Bone, behaviour of isolated fragments 497
— cartilage and the repair of - 496, 500
— cases illustrating the growth and repair of - - - - - - 376
— cavities, filling up with subcutaneous fat - - - - - - 697
— comminuted fracture of, experiments on treatment of - - 471–477
— — — value of indirect fixation in - 477
— dense, function in bone repair - 491
— disease, Koehler's - - - - 504
— formation of, in human penis - - 513
— an individual, its analogy with an organ such as the liver, etc. - 624
— operations on premaxilla in cleft palate - - - - - - 291
— parts played by periosteum, medulla, and dense bone in repair of 492
— regeneration of, and callus formation - - - - - - - - 491
— relative value of one large or several small grafts in repair of - - 483
— repair of, after subperiosteal removal 479–482
— transplanted, growth and development of - - - - - 610, 619
— tuberculous abscess of - - - 525
Bone-fracture, conditions in animals and man not analagous - - 485
— factors determining success in operative treatment - - - 485
— fixation by intramedullary pegs 453–467
— — metal collars - - - - 451
— — plates and screws or pins - 441–450
— indirect fixation in comminuted and compound - - - 489, 490
— — — by transfixion and extension apparatus - - - 467
— methods and material used in experiments - - - - - 442
— tibia of cat suitable for experiments 440
Bone-grafting of tibia on ulna for endothelioma - - - - 434
— Albee's, for Pott's disease - - 512
— of humerus for chondro-sarcoma - 383
— leg fourteen years ago, results of - 381
— observations on - - - - 49
— relative advantages of autoplasty, homoplasty, and heteroplasty - 49
— in skull, different behaviour according to size of grafts - - - 378
